Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 09 June 2004.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL.                      2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification does not reasonably provide enablement for how to make and use the claimed invention. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. The specification states theories and ideas but fails to concretely state the structure or materials used in making the invention. The specification further fails to disclose how to make or use the invention. There is no information in the specification that enables one of ordinary skill in the art to make or use the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims state general theories and fail to claim any specific structure or product. It appears applicant is attempting to patent an idea that is based upon known principles without showing or producing a product.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 11, 12 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Metro 4,429,474. Metro '474 discloses all the limitations of the claims including the following: a shoe that is constructed so that a range of spring constants is available within each shoe size (see col. 4, lines 51-65 and col. 6, lines 23-48); individual shoes out of this range can be fitted to different athletes to rebound following the downward motion of the athlete's foot so as to coincide with the upward motion of the user's foot (typical use of a shoe, especially that with springs located within them); the shoe can provide the same period of oscillation when used by different athletes (period of oscillations depends upon the user's weight and pace, therefore, different athletes weighing the same and running/walking at the same pace and stride would meet this limitation, i.e. the limitation is not based upon the shoe but upon the user of the shoe.); the harmonic motion of the shoes coincides with the frequency of the user's foot movements (the shoe rebounds with the lifting of the user's foot); the shoes aid in lifting the feet to aid the user in lifting the foot off the ground maximizing the recovery energy of the stride of the athlete's foot (see col. 6, lines 23-48); shoes fitted for set criteria and providing maximum energy return (shoes of Metro '474 are adjustable for each individual user's preference and provides the maximum desired energy return in combination with cushioning effect.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3728

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Metro 4,429,474 as applied to claim 12 above. Metro '474 discloses all the limitations substantially as claimed. Metro has springs made of elastic material where the spring constant can be altered to prolong the cushioning effect of the heel area. This constant can be adjusted by the individual user to what that user desires.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed June 9, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has failed to provide any arguments against the references used in the rejection stated in the Office action. Applicant has further failed to explain how the new claims overcome the art used in the rejection, as required. It appears applicant is attempting to patent an idea rather than the product of that idea.

With respect to applicant's request for constructive criticism, since there appears to be no allowable subject matter, there is no assistance that the examiner can give at this time.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-

Art Unit: 3728

MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
